The EMPEROR's Commissorial DECREE against the TREATY of SEVILLE.

ROBEN Ferdinand, Prince of Furstenberg, First Commissioner of the Emperor, has Orders to represent to the Electors, Princes and States of the Empire, on the Part of his Imperial Majesty, that after all the Pains his Imperial Majesty took, immediately after the Peace concluded at Baden with the Crown of France, to endeavour to terminate, in a friendly Way, the Troubles which still subsisted with Spain, he did at last, with the View of procuring the general Tranquillity, and even to the Prejudice of the Rights of his Archducal House, accede to the Alliance of London, projected by Great-Britain in 1718, and afterwards accepted by France and Spain. The Emperor communicated this to the Dyet, by his Decree of the 28th of August, 1720. that they might take that Treaty into Consideration, and particularly the V. Article, containing what had been agreed on with relation to the Dutchies of Tuscany and Parma: And the Electors, Princes, and States of the Empire ought to call to mind the unanimous Resolution taken in that Respect by the General Assembly, November 9, 1722, and approved by the Emperor. The whole Empire and indeed all the World knows, that his Imperial Majesty has, for his Part, contributed to the utmost of his Power toward the salutary End proposed, to wit, the Establishment of the general Tranquillity of Europe, since he not only consented to the Congress of Cambray, proposed by the Powers in Alliance, by sending his Plenipotentiaries to it, but was also the first who transacted Business therein, by delivering, pursuant to what had been agreed on by the V. Article of the Alliance of London, with respect to the Succession of Tuscany and Parma, the Expectative Letters, containing the Eventual Investiture, in Favour of the Infante Don Carlos, which were exchanged against certain Instruments, with the strongest Guaranty on the Part of the Crowns of Spain, France, and Great-Britain; whereby his Imperial Majesty has evidently proved to all the World, that as he was the readiest to fulfil his Engagements, so it always was, and still is, his most sincere Intention to contribute on his Part, and in the Name of the Empire, to every Thing that can tend to the strengthening of the public Peace and Tranquillity. In the mean while, nothing could be done in this Affair at Cambray, till Spain having made the Overture in 1725, his Imperial Majesty the same Year concluded, pursuant to the Resolution of the Empire, and conformably to the full Powers therein contained, a Peace, grounded intirely on the V. Article of the Quadruple Alliance, between his Imperial Majesty, as Emperor, and the Holy Empire, on the one Part; and the Crown of Spain on the other Part: And immediately after dispatched to his Plenipotentiary in Italy the necessary Orders for the Security of the Infante Don Carlos, in case of the Death of the Duke of Tuscany or the Duke of Parma.

His Imperial Majesty having thus performed his Engagements, with all the Sincerity that could be required, and in the most authentic Manner, he could not expect any Innovation to be made in Prejudice thereof: But contrary to all Expectation, a particular Treaty has been concluded at Seville, between the Crowns of Spain, France, and Great-Britain, the IX. and subsequent Articles of which cannot but raise the highest Indignation, because the most essential Bands of Human Society are therein broken, and if Christian Powers pretend thus to dispose of the Estates of Third Persons, all Confidence and good Faith ought to be banished out of the World. Besides, they have no Regard to former Treaties, nor to the last Preliminary Articles, which were acknowledged by both Parties as the Groundwork of the Negociations for the General Peace, and as the only Counterpoise to an Exorbitant Power that was designed to be erected in Europe: They have no Attention to the Acts of Guaranty which have been delivered: They dispose of the Rights and Territories of the Empire, as they please, even in the Life-Time of the lawful Possessors: They set so little Value on the Emperor and Empire, that they would not so much as ask their Consent in an Affair that was properly their own, tho' such Consent was made necessary by the Alliance of London: They moreover intrude themselves into other Domestic Affairs of the Empire, and endeavour to innovate in that respect: Lastly, they contented themselves, without producing any Reason for this new Alliance, as is usual among Crowned Heads, or demanding the Consent, or Concurrence at least, of the Emperor and Empire, with acquainting his Imperial Majesty's Ministers, here and at Paris, with the Treaty of Seville, and with barely giving them a Copy of it, tho' his Imperial Majesty had always offered to come into any Expedients, provided they were not prejudicial to the Rights of a Third Person, to those of the Empire, and to former Treaties. If therefore such Conduct takes place, and the new Allies persist therein, we shall hereafter see Might overcome Right, and Engagements trampled on at Pleasure; and whatever the new Allies shall judge to be most convenient, will always be most just, without any Regard to Things or Persons: To be thoroughly convinced hereof, you need only compare the V. Article of the Quadruple Alliance with the IX. and subsequent Articles of the Treaty of Seville.

As his Imperial Majesty could not imagine, that the Empire was not reduced to such an Extremity, that it would suffer its most undoubted Rights, by the Confession even of Foreign Powers, to be so manifestly invaded, and Alterations to be made therein without its Knowledge and Participation; that so little Regard should be had for his Imperial Majesty and the Empire, in an Affair wherein they are so directly concerned; and that a new Vassal should be installed, notwithstanding the Agreements, Ordinances, and Laws to the contrary, his Imperial Majesty thought it necessary to lay before the Electors, Princes and States an Account of this Affair, and the fatal Consequences that may result therefrom; to the end that they may maturely consider what is proper to be done under these Circumstances, to maintain the Honour and undoubted Rights of his Imperial Majesty and the Empire; to protect the lawful Possessors of the Fiefs of the Empire in Italy, who are still living: and to prevent the Dangers with which the said Fiefs, and especially those of Tuscany and Parma, are threatened: His Imperial Majesty flatters himself, that the Electors, Princes and States of the Empire, and in their Name, their Ministers in the Dyet, will thereupon take such Measures as will tend to the Welfare, Tranquillity and Safety of the Empire; the rather, because it evidently appears, that his Imperial Majesty has not been sparing of his Pains to maintain the Rights of the Empire; that the Fear of being abandoned by his Ally, the King of Spain, was not capable of making him take the least Step that could prejudice his Dignity and that of the Empire; and that he has even in some Sort neglected the Rights of his Archducal House, to keep in View only those of the Empire. His Imperial Majesty, in Consideration of the Military Preparations that are making elsewhere to act by Force in Italy, thought fit to send some Troops thither, which he will reinforce with other Troops according to the Exigency of Affairs, in order to protect and maintain the Honour, Prerogatives, and Rights of his Imperial Majesty and the Empire, not in the View of making use of Force against any Person whatsoever, but only to execute the most solemn Alliances, and the most sacred Engagements; to hinder any Violence from being committed against the Territories and Fiefs of the Holy Roman Empire, and to protect the innocent Possessors thereof. His Imperial Majesty flatters himself, that if, contrary to all Expectation, the Tranquillity of Italy should be disturbed; or if, for the Care his Imperial Majesty takes to protect the Empire and its Rights, his Hereditary Kingdoms and States should be attacked, he shall be supported in so just a Cause by the whole Empire, in the most effectual Manner: An unanimous and vigorous Resolution is the surest, not to say the only Means to take off the Edge of Foreign Fury; to assert the Rights and Dignity of the Emperor and Empire, and to prevent the fatal Consequences which it is easy to foresee. Done at Vienna, March 22, 1730. Signed, Froben Ferdinand, Prince of Furstenberg.

The FRENCH Court's REPLY.

DOubtless, the Emperor's Goodness was imposed on, in relation to the Materials which make the Basis and Groundwork of the Commissorial Decree: published at Ratisbon.

1. In what Light are we to consider the Reproaches cast upon the Allies of Seville, for disposing of the Estate and Property of a Third Person, when they are so far from breaking in upon what was stipulated by the Treaty of London, (that is, the Quadruple Alliance) that they render it stronger and more secure: This was a common Affair: But the Emperor did not hurry himself to execute that Part which related to the Security of the Provisional Settlement of the Infante Don Carlos, tho' it was the very Condition without which such an Addition of Power as the Kingdom of Sicily had never been procured for the House of Austria. It is well known, with what Difficulty the Instruments for the Investitures were obtained: To say all in one Word, they were in a manner extorted, because they could not be obtained.

2. There is a wrong Application put on what was stipulated by the V. Article of the Treaty of London, about the Consent of the Empire. It was provided by that Article, that the Consent of the Empire should be asked, for expediting the Acts of Investiture: The Empire gave its Consent; but there was not a Word mentioned, either in the Decree then sent to the Empire, or in the Result that followed thereupon, of any Measures that had been, or might be taken, to secure and effectuate the Introduction of the Infante Don Carlos into the Countries reserved for him. The Emperor then treated the Affair of the Garrisons as a Thing absolutely indifferent to him; and an invariable Progress of the same Spirit was observed in all that passed at the Dyet, in 1728. The Emperor did not prosecute the V. Article of the Quadruple Alliance in the IV. Article of the Treaty of Vienna; and yet, notwithstanding the considerable Alteration made therein, the Empire acknowledged this last Treaty to be exactly conformable to the Sense of the Result of the Year 1722. The Ministers who compose the Dyet will, without Doubt, find some Footsteps of these Facts in their Journals or Minutes. The Allies of Seville could not therefore imagine, there was any Need of a new Consent of the Empire, when no Alteration in the least is made in the Essence of what was stipulated by the Treaty of London. The X. and XII. Articles of the Treaty of Seville leave no Doubt as to the Intention of the Contracting Parties, since they engage to settle, according to the Right of Succession that has been agreed on, and to maintain the Most Serene Infante Don Carlos in the Possession and Enjoyment of the Territories of Tuscany and Parma.

We cannot conceive how it could be asserted in the Commissorial Decree, that the Emperor was never asked to accede to the new Treaty: The Fact is authentic enough, after the Answers which that Prince himself returned to the Ministers of the Allies of Seville who are near his Person. Why should an Affair be called in Question, when the Proof of it is in every one's Hands? to wit, That the Ministers of the Allies of Seville did, in pursuance of their Orders, continually press the Emperor, that he would be pleased, out of a just and ready Condescension, to put the last Hand to so wholsome a Work as that of Peace. The beaten Road for the Execution of the Treaty of London, was pursued for the Execution of the Treaty of Seville: The Emperor was applied to in the one, as much as in the other. The Road was not disagreeable to his Ministers, so long as it served their Private Ends; but as soon as they found there was not all the Complaisance they might expect, paid to the Family-Interests of the House of Austria, they imputed it as a Crime to the Allies of Seville, to confide, as they ought to do, that the Emperor would communicate to the Empire the Measures newly taken: Which would not appear so strange to the Court of Vienna, if they would be pleased to call to mind, that they did, in some Measure, put the Allies of Hanover in the Way of Negociation, which now fills them with Indignation and Resentment; and that nothing has been done, but what the Emperor was very ready to do himself, had certain Conditions, essential to the Interests of his House, been complied with.

It cannot be for the Defence of the present Possessors, and of the Rights of the Empire, that the Emperor sends his Forces to Italy; because on the one hand, the Treaty of London, made at the Instances of the Emperor himself, subjects the present Possessors to the Obligation of receiving Garrisons; and on the other hand, there has been no Attack made upon any Thing wherein the Empire is concerned. We must make a Distinction between Pretensions and Rights established eventually and conditionally, and an actual Possession. The Territories now in Dispute do not actually depend on the Empire: The Feodality of those Territories is settled only eventually: Upon this Principle, the Sovereign Rights of the Empire are but Eventual. Can the States complain, that the Precautions taken by the Quadruple Alliance are exceeded by the Treaty of Seville, when those with which the Emperor upbraids the Allies of Seville, tend only to secure the exact Observation of it? Is this to be effected by the Entrance of Imperial Troops, which is to precede the Introduction of the Infante Don Carlos, according to the Mandate N°. 4. annexed to the Commissorial Decree? The Spirit and Way of Wording this same Mandate discover the whole Scene of Injury done to Spain by the Treaty of Vienna. Would it have been consistent with the Prudence of so many Powers, united by the Treaty of Seville, to neglect the taking of just solid Measures for the Execution of the V. Article of the Treaty of London, after they had found, by sad Experience, that the Treaty of Baden was not executed; and that it was in vain for the College of Electors to remonstrate about the Duchy of Mantua, and several other Fiefs of the Empire in Italy?

The Emperor cannot upbraid France about her invariable Endeavours for the Preservation of Peace and good Order in the Empire, without owning them at the same Time himself: But can he complain of her, without wounding the Honour of the Guaranties of the Treaty of Westphalia, so dear to the whole Germanic Body, which France desires in the Affair of Mecklemburg, and in that of East Friesland; and which no particular State, nor even the Emperor himself, can wish more heartily than he does? But the better to dazzle Mens Eyes, the Affair of the Troubles in East Friesland is principally insisted on: The Emperor has, at the King's Request, entered into several particular Engagements in relation to the Management of the Affair of East Friesland; and upon this Account the States-General have prevailed with the People of Embden to make their Submission. Their High-Migötinesses acted in this Affair in Concert with the Emperor's Minister in Holland, and he with them: So that the Imperial Minister having his Hands tied up in that respect, all he could do or propose was, to contradict and depart from his own Act and Deed. If the Allies of Seville have granted to the United Provinces the Privileges they acquired and have enjoyed about 100 Years; what can be more just, or more conformable to the Views which have so happily united them, than to prevent Hostilities, without hindering the Parties from having Recourse to Legal Methods? Far from attempting any Thing against the Jurisdiction of the Emperor and the Empire, they desire nothing so ardently, as to see it restored and exercised according to the Law and Constitutions.

These Considerations are sufficient for the Prudence and Sagacity of the Members of the Dyet. It is now their Masters Business to inquire, whether for an unreasonable Jealousy of the Allies of Seville, or out of a blind Complaisance for some Counsels which prevail at the Court of Vienna, it is their Interest voluntarily to endanger not only the Loss of their Quiet, but also the Assistance which they might fairly promise themselves for the Maintenance of their Rights, Prerogatives, and Liberties; especially when the Minister of France is perpetually assuring them, in general and in particular, that the King is very far from designing to give the Electors, Princes and States of the Empire any Uneasiness; that, on the contrary, his Majesty desires nothing more, than to keep up a perfectly good Correspondence with them in an Affair wherein their reciprocal Interests do not in the least clash, but leave the King the Power, as well as the Will, to give them substantial Proofs of his Love of Peace.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Friday, arrived the Mail from Holland; and Sunday one from France.

Vienna, May 30. We hear from Constantinople, that notwithstanding the Assurances which the Grand Visier continues to give, that the Porte will punctually keep the Peace, they cease not their extraordinary Preparations for War. From Fiume we also learn, that a Vessel which sailed from that Port, having on Board a great Quantity of Ammunition, with 400 Croats, had been wrecked on the Coast of Sicily, and only 18 Men saved.

Hague, June 13. One cannot, as yet, write with any Certainty concerning Peace or War, tho' the latter seems most likely, the Courts of Vienna and Spain persisting on Contraries as strenuously as ever, viz. the Emperor to have none but Neutrals, and the Catholic Monarch to have none but Spaniards, sent to Italy.

Paris, June 14. Our Letters from Rome, of the 24th ult. import, that the Sacred College seem agreed to advance to S. Peter's Chair Cardinal Pico de la Mirandola; but that it was much apprehended left Cardinal Ceffugos should put the Negative upon him, likewise, in the Emperor's Name, which, should it so happen, would reduce the Conclave to just the same State as when their Eminences first came thither. The Affiano, which, last Friday rose to upwards of 1400, are now sunk to 1330.

Tuesday arrived a Mail from Holland.

Rome, May 27. The Conclave Affairs stand just as they did. The Chiefs of Orders have received Letters from the Portuguese Cardinals, wherein they "Thank the Sacred "College for the Care they took, to invite them to the "Conclave; adding, that in case they should determine "to repair thither, they would not fail acquainting their "Eminences with their Resolutions."——Other Advices from Lisbon import, that the K. of Portugal designing to bring into his Capital a Source of Water from a neighbouring Mountain, in order to defray that Expence, will levy a Tax upon the Clergy of his Realm; but the Patriarch of that City has, add they, engaged his said Majesty to suspend this Resolution, so repugnant to the Pontifical Authority, till after the Election of a Pontiff.——By Order of the Sacred College, Signor Santa Maria has had restored to him all such of his Effects as had been carried to Castle S. Angelo.

Florence, May 27. The 25th past, with the utmost Demonstrations of Joy, was here celebrated the Anniversary of the Birth of his R. H. our G. Duke, who in is a perfect State of Health, and is now entered his 60th Year. ——Advice is just come in, that Salmone is utterly destroyed by an Earthquake, and that many People perished under its Ruins.——From Corsica they write, that the Malecontents still persist in their Rebellion, without receding from any the least of their Pretensions; which as they are very exoroitant, and such as the Genoese cannot grant them, without extremely prejudicing their Rights and Prerogatives, it is feared this Insurrection may be attended with very pernicious Consequences.

Shaffhouse, June 8. The K. of Prussia has wrote to the Laudable Swiss Cantons, communicating to them a Letter of Recommendation which he has sent to the K. of Sardinia in Favour of the Protestants inhabiting the Vallies of Savoy. His Prussian Majesty offers at the same Time, to receive into his Domains Part of those who have been expelled the said Vallies, and demands a List of their Names, Professions, &c.——We learn, that the French have got up the Rhine, from Strasburg to Hanningue, 20 Barks, with the Design of throwing a Bridge over the River, at that Place; whereat the Inhabitant of the Marquisate of Dourlach and the adjacent Countries are already greatly alarmed; that they are making great Movements in Alsatia, where Quantities of Forage, &c. are amassing; and that the Garrison of Hanningue is considerably re-inforced.——"With however louring an "Aspect all this (and much more of a like Strain from di"vers other Places) may look, yet from most Parts we "learn, that People still flatter themselves the with Hopes "of an Accommodation."

HOME NEWS.

Friday, June 5. They have begun to pull down the Tapestry Hanging in the Painted Chamber leading to the House of Lords, and to clear the Gardens behind it, to frame the Work of the new Building, which is to be carried on with all possible Expedition.

The Commissioners of the Navy agreed, Yesterday, for the Hire of 15 Transports, measuring 3001 Tons, for carrying Soldiers to Gibraltar and P. Mahon: These Ships are to continue in the Service three Months certain, and as much longer as requisite. According to the usual Computation of two Men to every three Tons, the Number of Men will be 2000. The same Day the said H. Commissioners contracted also for 1800 Ton of Shipping to serve as Transports in the inrended Expedition to Italy. — The Troops already appointed for this Imbarcation are as follow; viz. From the 1st Regiment of Foot-Guards 10 Companies, making 1610 Men, Officees included. From the 2d and 3d Regiments ditto, nine Companies each, which, including Officers, make 1098. Total of Guards 1708. These are to join at the Isle of Wight, the marching Regiments of Kirk, Kerr and Tyrawley, consisting of each 541 Men, in all 1623. Total 3331. Which Corps is to be reinforced by some Regiments from Ireland.

It is said, that on this Expedition divers Officers now on Half-Pay are to have Commissions, in the room of such as are incapable of going Abroad, who are to be admitted into Half-Pay.

The Cause which was depending, in the Court of Chancery, between Mr. Chester and Sir John Chester, Bart. about the Estate of 1100l. per Ann. was tried the 3d past, and determined in favour of Sir John, the Defendant.

By the John and Mary, Capt. Pringle, lately arrived from Antigoa, we have Advice, that their Crop of Sugar this Season was extraordinary good.——He set Sail for England the latter End of April, and the Countess of Londonderry intended to imbark soon after; so that her Ladyship must now be on the Voyage Home.—— The Day he left Antegoa, one John Breenwood was ordered for Execution, pursuant to his Sentence, for counterfeiting the current Coin of that Place. He being the first Person capitally convicted for that Crime, the Jury brought in their Verdict special, not knowing that a Law was made by the Assemblies of the Leeward Islands which made it a Capital Offence to counterfeit any Money that goes current there; however a Copy of the Act was produced, and he was cast and received Sentence of Death accordingly. He was educated in the West of England, and served School-master, as Usher, in Antigoa.

Saturday, June 6. Henry Rolle, Esqr; is unanimously elected Representative in Parliament for Devonshire, in the room of his most worthy and much lamented Father, John Rolle, Esqr.

Yesterday, some Labourers, digging at the Cloysters near St. Bartholomew's Hospital, discovered among the Ruins a considerable Quantity of Silver Money, in Pieces about the Size of Shillings and Six-pences, of the Coin of Edward VI. Most of the Inscriptions are very fair and legible.—— "Some affirms the Coins to be of far greater Antiquity, "even from the Time of Henry I."

The Gallery in St George's Chappel at Windsor is getting ready for her Majesty and several Court Ladies to see the Ceremony of the Installment.

We hear that Capt. Shirley, Brother to Earl Ferrers, and Capt. Reynolds, Son to the Lord Bishop of Lincoln, (which last Gentleman was lately broke by Order of his Majesty upon the Report of a Court Martial) are both gone into Holy Orders.

They write from Salisbury, that Tues. last the King's Plate of 100 Guineas was run for by three Horses, viz. Mr. Shepherd's Tarat, the Duke of Bolton's Fox-Hunter, and Lord Onslow's Pantaloon; and won by the first.

The next Day a Purse of 20 Guineas was run for by the Earl of Portmore's Country Wench, Mr. Henley's Horse Tickle——, and Mr. Fenton's Mare Miss Hyden; and won by the first: Never was more Company seen at Salisbury on such an Occasion.

Monday, June 8. From Holland we learn, that the seven Youths (mentioned in our last to be under Prosecution for the unnatural Sin of Sodomy) have been executed at the Hague; tho' it is said, if Money would have mitigated the Sentence, no Sums would have been wanting. They were first hanged, then two of the Bodies reduced to Ashes, and the others carried to Scheveling and cast into the Sea. Incredible Discoveries are made, abundance are in Prison in order to be tried, and many of very considerable Note, with divers eminent Merchants have absconded, and have been, in vain, summoned, by Sound of Bells and Beat of Drum, to make their Appearance.

From Ireland we hear very little of Moment, but that the Ld. Mayor, &c. of Dublin have presented his Grace their A. Bp. with his Freedom of that City, in a Gold Box.——And that Mr. Dan. Kimberley, the Attorney, concerned in the Marriage of a Daughter of one Reading, was executed, last Wed. at Stephen's Green, notwithstanding the great Intercession made in his Behalf.

Lady Kinsale, who was dangerously ill, is a little better.

Sat. last, Money was sent to the Pay-Office, in Broad-Street, to pay off the Companies belonging to his Majesty's Ship Lyme, now at Portsmouth.

Sunday, June 9. Yesterday, their Majesties and all the Royal Family were present at the Review of the three Regiments of Foot Guards, in Hyde-Park. ——At the Intercession of divers Officers, his Majesty has reprieved, one Stokes, a Soldier in the First of those Regiments, who was to have been shot for Desertion, this Morning: And we hear, he will be sent to one of the Marching Regiments.

The same Morning set out, for France, from his House in S. James's Square, his Grace the D. of Norfolk, E. Marshal of England.
